

MEXICO MAY BAR AMERICAN CAPITAL

Bill Forbidding Foreigners to Engage in Mining Now in President Diaz's Hands.

$300,000,000 NOW INVESTED

Aspiring Politicians Making Capital Out of Growing "Mexico for Mexicans" Sentiment.

MEXICO CITY, June 29.—The proposed new mining law, which contains what is known as the "anti-foreign provision," may not be submitted to Congress at its next session. The measure still is in the hands of President Diaz, who has authority to promulgate the law without submitting it to Congress if he feels so inclined. This authority was conferred upon him by Congress in 1905, when it gave him full power to reform the mining laws of Mexico, but it is reported that the President and Minister of Finance have been opposed to the anti-foreign clause, which reads as follows: "Foreign companies are incapable henceforth of denouncing, or in any other form acquiring, mining properties, or mining concessions, within the territory of the Mexican republic."

The view most generally held as to the meaning of this provision is that it excludes companies organized under the laws of any other country from operating in mines in Mexico. It is claimed in official circles, however, that the real intent of the clause is to require the registration in Mexico of all foreign companies owning or operating mines in this country, and that it will have no effect in debarring American or other foreign capital from investment in this industry. The provision applies to foreign companies, and not foreign capital, it is stated.

Aimed Chiefly at Americans.

It is said that the clause really is aimed at some of the large corporations of American capital which already are operating extensively in mines in Mexico, and which constantly are acquiring additional properties and increasing their hold upon the industry. Minister Molina, who drafted the measure, admits that this is one of its purposes.

There is a general feeling on the part of the Mexican people that the time has arrived when they are capable of developing their native resources without the aid of foreign capital. They have witnessed the making of fortunes by Americans and other foreigners out of mines and other industries, while they stood idly by, without taking advantage of the multitude of opportunities abounding on every hand. It is claimed by observing Americans who have lived in Mexico for many years, that if the government adopts the policy of Mexico for the Mexicans a blight will be put upon further development of the country.

Americans Have Invested $300,000,000.

It is conservatively estimated that not less than $300,000,000 of American money is invested in mining and smelting properties in Mexico. In some of the larger camps, such as Cananea, Guaymas and Pachuca, practically all the producing mines are owned by Americans. Although American capital has been enormously to the wealth of Mexico during the last few years, and the installation of American power plants by American and Canadian capital has been the means of cheapening the cost of mining in many of the camps, there is no denying the fact that a strong anti-American sentiment exists on the part of the Mexicans of the middle class.

It is a subject of discussion wherever there are Americans employed or in business.

ELOPES WITH COACHMAN

Daughter of New Brunswick's Governor, or Annals Society.

FREDERICKTON, N. B., June 29.—Capital society was stirred by the news that Miss Maud Tweedle, eighteen-year-old daughter of Lemuel J. Tweedle, Governor of New Brunswick, had run away last week with David McEwan, the Governor's former coachman, and had married him, when the astonishing incident was revealed from Montreal, that the couple had sailed in the steamer from that port for Scotland.

The Governor and Mrs. Tweedle were informed of the marriage while attending the wedding of Chief Justice Barker's daughter in St. John. Mrs. Tweedle was prostrated.

Young McEwan came from Scotland about a year ago with some horses imported by the provincial government and entered the employ of the Governor.

A week last Tuesday, Miss Tweedle went to St. Stephen, N. B., ostensibly to visit Mr. and Mrs. James G. Stevens. McEwan reached St. Stephen at noon on the same day. Late in the afternoon McEwan and Miss Tweedle were seen leaving the St. Croix River, which forms the international boundary, and called on the Rev. Charles E. McCutty, of the Congregational Church in Calais, Me., and asked him to marry them.

JAP ENERGY A WINNER

Korean Door Open, But Occidental Nations Do Not Enter.

TOKIO, June 29.—That there is no closed door in Korea is the positive assertion made, not only by officials, but by American business men, who are doing a large business in Korea, and this view is borne out by the statement made recently at Chumupo by Thomas Sammons, the American consul-general, who said: "Those who seek the open door in Korea will find it."

It is a fact, however, that Japan, by reason of her geographical position, has the advantage over other competing nations, and she has undoubtedly gained a foothold in other countries, not only in Korea, but in Manchuria and Japan itself.

The truth of the situation is that Japanese energy and enterprise have so far exceeded the degree of these qualities displayed by the other nations. Although American capital has been enormously to the wealth of Mexico during the last few years, and the installation of American power plants by American and Canadian capital has been the means of cheapening the cost of mining in many of the camps, there is no denying the fact that a strong anti-American sentiment exists on the part of the Mexicans of the middle class.

ZUST'S IDEAL TRIP

Italian Riders Enthusiastic Over Journey Across Manchuria.

LONDON, June 29.—Scarfoglio, in a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Bokto, near Lake Balkal, transmitted from the Züst car through the Manchurian plain as "ideal." He says:

"For nine hours the car has been racing as if on the heel motor, like across a boundless, polished crystal. Small Manchurian villages are scattered about, loty pagodas, pink and blue, raise their roofs above the trees. At their feet huge lions of granite are on watch. Villages are terrified at sight of our car and flee, cowering their eyes and closing their ears."

The severe profile of Kingman Mountains is seen on the sky line. We ascend an easy grassy incline, and the curves of the track are so smooth they remind one of a baby's face.

A dispatch to the Züst's arrival there, date reports the Züst's arrival there.

Nobles Object to Choice of Jaime and Some Resign Titles.

MADRID, June 29.—The name of Jaime, which is to be given to King Alfonso's second son, at once has given rise to considerable dissatisfaction in certain circles of the Spanish nobility, who have organized a plot to absent themselves from the ceremony of the government.

Newspapers say the King was advised to give his son the name of Jaime out of compliment to Catalonia, where the activities of a new home being held in commemoration of the centenary of King Don Jaime. As, however, certain political factions in Madrid believe that Catalonia are scheming to arrive at independence under the cloak of autonomy, the nobility who are at La Granja are even going so far as to have a secret voting card, which they will use in writing and signing this history. Anderson, Jr., has been elected delegate from Richmond Lodge, No. 45. About half a dozen more of the members will probably go with him. A full list of officers for the next year will be elected and plans for the good of the order will be discussed by the delegates at Dallas.

PRINCE EULENBURG'S TRIAL

At the request of the prosecuting attorney, made recently at Chumupo by Thomas Sammons, the American consul-general, who said: "Those who seek the open door in Korea will find it."

MR. R. HENRY JONES DIES DURING NIGHT

Senior Member of Norfolk's Board of Control, and One of City's Leading Men.

WAS GALLANT CONFEDERATE

Served in Norfolk Artillery Blues and Had Been Prominent in Business Life.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

NORFOLK, Va., June 29.—Mr. R. Henry Jones, senior member of the Board of Control, and one of Norfolk's best known citizens, died at 12:30 o'clock this morning, following a stroke of apoplexy, earlier in the night.

The news of Mr. Jones's death came as a great shock to his friends throughout the city, for although he had been complaining for several weeks, he returned to the city several days ago from Mecklenburg Springs, but was not improved. Last week he was ordered to do office work at the Board of Control, but had several sinking spells, and Friday afternoon was barely able to get on a trolley car and go home. He was a man of indomitable will, and would not give up as long as he had the strength to go.

Mr. Jones was sixty-four years of age and a native of Norfolk. He was the son of the late Jesse Jones and he survived by two children, Percy and Jones and Miss Grace Helen Jones, and a daughter, Mrs. George M. Walker, of Charles City County. Mrs. Jones was a Confederate soldier, served with the Norfolk Light Artillery, and was a member of Pickett's Battalion Camp, Confederate Veterans. For a number of years he was the head of the wholesale feed company of Jesse Jones & Co., and was connected with it up to a few months ago, when the business was closed out.

Two years ago Mr. Jones stood for the election for a member of the Board of Control, when the administration plan of the city was changed under the new charter, and he was elected and drew the six years' term. He took a great interest in the work of the administration, and was the head of the water department, health department and fire department. He was an indefatigable worker in the interest of the city.

Mr. Jones was a leading member of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, a member of its vestry board, and also prominent in the Masonic Order, as a member of Ruth Lodge. He was also a member of the Royal Arcanum.

Upon the announcement of the death of Mr. Jones this morning all of the city offices were closed, the city courts were adjourned, and the flags on all of the city's public buildings were lowered to half-mast. For an hour the bells of the city were rung, and a funeral service was held at the residence of Mrs. Jones at 312 North Twenty-fifth Street.
